FAST is advancing the success of newly hired assistant professors by providing strategies and tips to guide participants through the critical first years. With insight from experienced professionals, participants gain the resources and confidence necessary to progress as professors and scholars.

First and second-year professors will enjoy the opportunity to network with senior faculty from across campus and form critical mentoring relationships.

Guest speakers, including top administrators, will share advice on topics such as:

*promotion and tenure publishing grant writing

*recruiting and mentoring graduate students

*achieving work-life balance
