Facets of Blue: The Legacy and Future of Indigo Dye
Ringel Gallery
Indigo, perhaps more than any other textile dye, has an enduring global legacy of beauty, craft, and artistic expression. At the same time, indigo is and has been entangled with labor exploitation in the pursuit for world markets and profit. Bringing together material culture, history, and contemporary art, this exhibition considers the aesthetic and historical facets of indigo's complex history as a coveted cultural object. This Purdue Galleries exhibition is a curatorial collaboration with the Asian and Asian American Resource and Cultural Center and Dr. Shannon McMullen and features work from contemporary artists Aboubakar Fofana and Rowland and Chinami Ricketts.

Fall 2023 Virtual Writing Group for Faculty, Staff, and Graduate Students

Restarting on October 2nd
MWF 3-5 PM ET

Led by Dr. Dada Docot & Dr. Teilhard Paradela

Each time I have joined sessions for this writing group, it has helped me be accountable for my research productivity, which is important for my career. These writing sessions increase my writing output and give me a peace of mind because I know that I'm making progress on my writing even among my many commitments.

I actually look forward to getting up early to join the group and get some work done early on so I can feel like I was productive for the rest of the day!

The writing group has helped keep me accountable to my dissertation writing schedule. It is nice to not write in isolation and with others committed to writing. For example, Last week, I completed the introductory sections of my literature review. This week, I am working on the drafting one of the three main cultural ideologies in my literature review.

Review of the Week

On Thursday, October 19th, Ailin Fei (Ph.D. student, Hospitality and Tourism Management) presented at the AAARCC's weekly Lunch and Learn series. Ailin discussed sustainability initiatives that are happening within the tourism industry from both the tourist and destination management perspectives.

The AAARCC hosted a class taught by Professor Yiwei Huang (Assistant Professor, Landscape Architecture). The class toured the center and learned about our pedagogy, cultural, and advocacy initiatives. We look forward to working with Professor Huang and students to conceptualize a re-imagined AAARCC outdoor landscaping that takes into account the Asian and Asian American cultural expressions and sustainability efforts.

Purdue Master's of Engineering Management graduate program (Director Eric VandeVoorde), the AAARCC (Director Pamela K. Sari), and SASE Purdue Chapter (President Jessica Wong and 13 other participants) attended The Society of Asian Scientists and Engineers (SASE) National Convention in Atlanta, GA. Purdue MEM and the AAARCC also partnered in representing Purdue University at the STEM Career Fair as part of the convention.

Thank you, alumni and friends of Purdue and the AAARCC, for networking at the event, and special thank you to alumna Nina Fujii who helped at Purdue table during the career fair. Congratulations to double Boilermakers Randy Hsu (B.S., Chemical Engineering; M.S., Engineering Management) for receiving the Heart of SASE 2023 award and the SASE Role Model award.

Purdue MEM, the AAARCC, and SASE Purdue Chapter are looking forward to partnering again at next year's conference in Boston, MA.
