Background

2012-2016

2013-2015

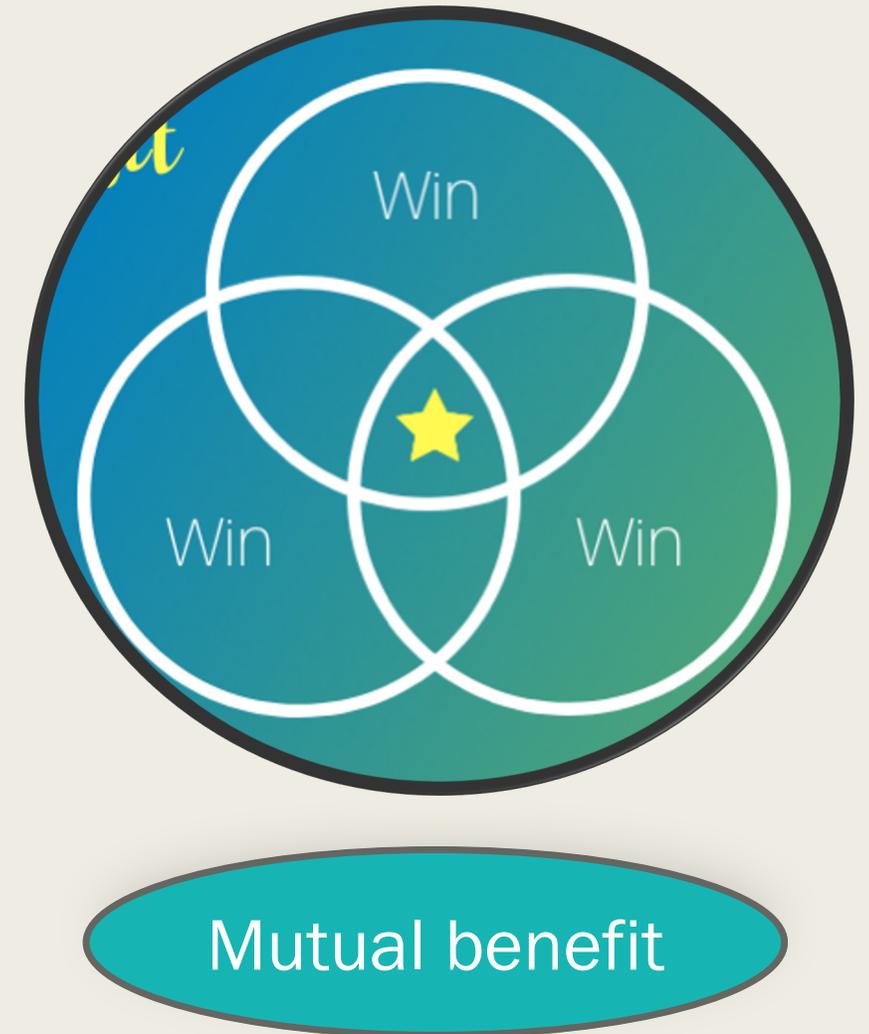

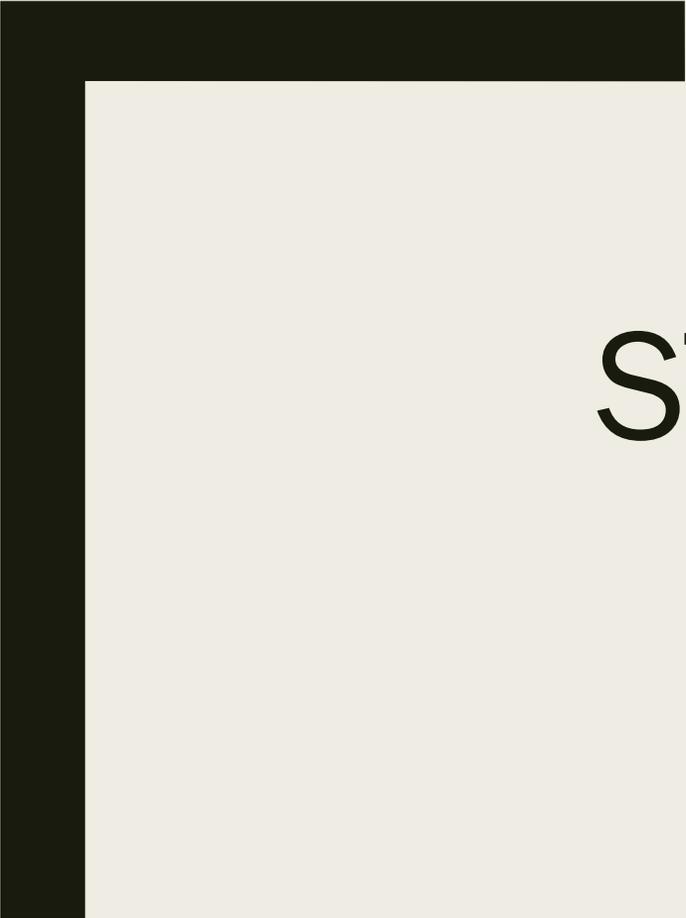

2017-2019

- My engagement work
 - Primarily international with study abroad
 - Much smaller locally

The First Step: Planning

- Have clear objectives for...
 - The students
 - The community / partner
 - Based on need
- Measurable - what metrics/tools?
 - Numbers
 - Quantitative tools
 - Pre- and post-surveys/scales
 - Qualitative data

STUDY ABROAD
EXAMPLE

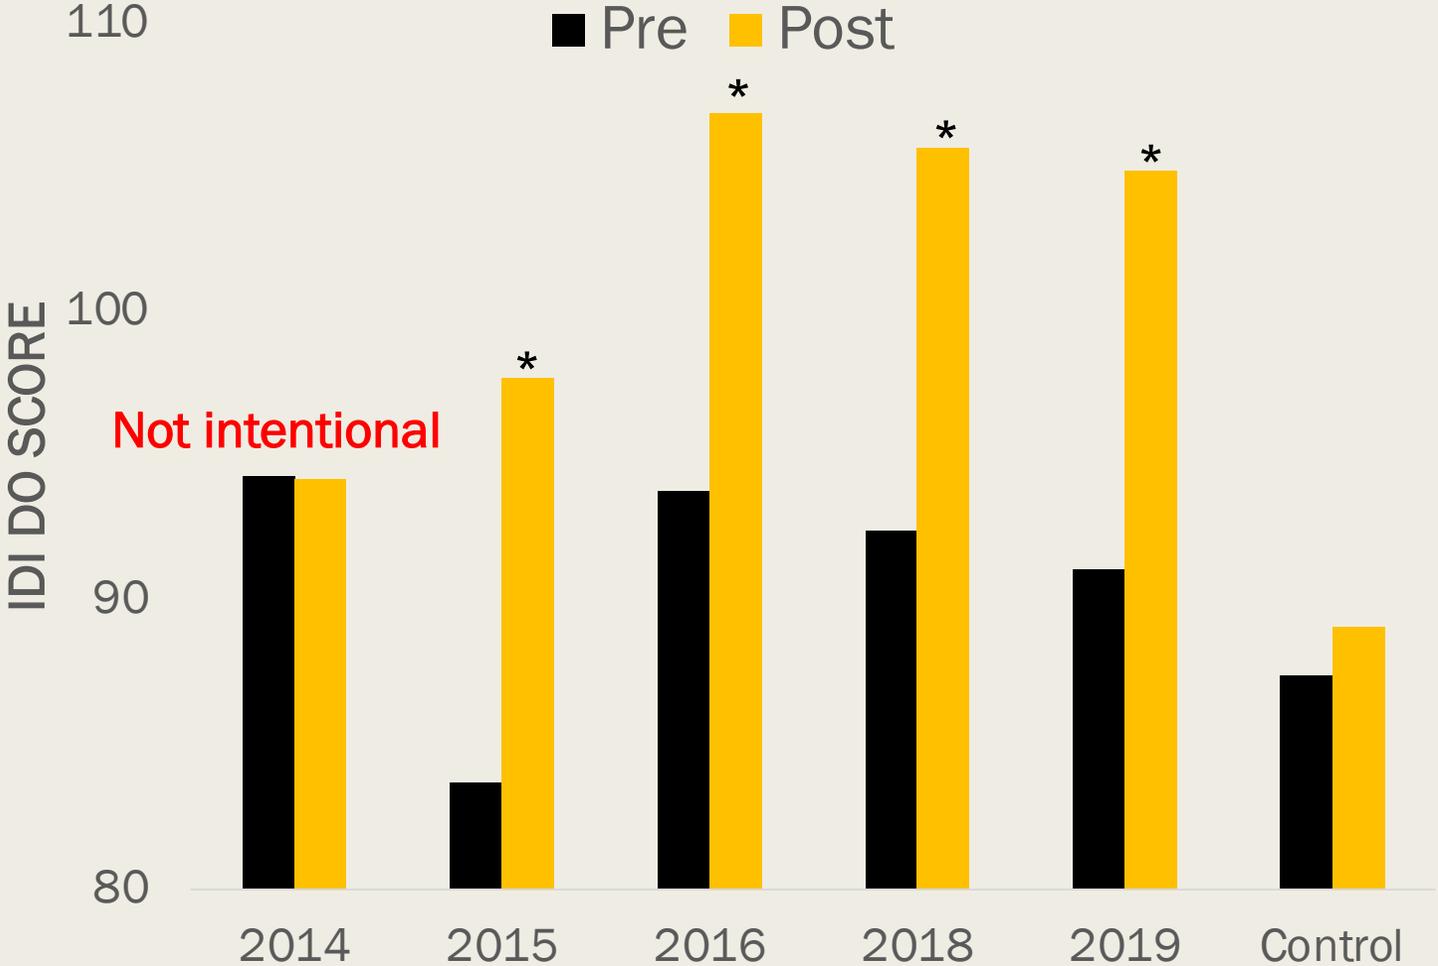

Study Abroad Objectives: Students

- Development of
 - Intercultural competence
 - Clinical skills
- Measures used:
 - Intercultural Development Inventory (IDI)
 - Qualitative reflections

Impact: Students

Year	Number
2013	12
2014	12
2015	9
2016	10
2018	9
2019	12
Total	64

Impact: Students - Qualitative Data

■ Cultural

- “Instead of seeing things as black and white, right and wrong, I need to see things as a myriad of color in which to learn and experience life.”
- “My perceptions have changed in how I view poverty; I have learned to not judge unemployed or poor people and assume the worst of an individual.”
- “I learned how isolated and alone I can feel when I do not ‘look’ like everyone else in the room.”
- “I found it helpful to gain insight on my own cultural values and attitudes, so I can be aware of how I act towards others.”

■ Clinical

- “We utilized a lot of gesturing and props in order to get the point across...we needed to think outside the box when a person didn’t understand the task right away.”
- “The clinic days also taught me a lot about problem solving.”
- “By the end of our time there I felt so confident in myself and my abilities.”
- “Whether the child was Deaf, intellectually disabled, or typically developing, a big smile, simple instructions, and lots of praise seemed the key to success for most of the children we tested.”

- What could be improved?
- Quantitative measure of clinical learning

- What could be improved?
- Measure increase in knowledge; change in attitude/behavior

Impact: Community Partners - Qualitative

- “Improvements in clinical service activities with help of feedback”
- “Benefit to the local community as services could reach a larger number of individuals”
- “Obtained new equipment and updated clinical protocols based on new information learned”
- “Learned new information that raised awareness about child development and disabilities: useful for field workers who work directly with families in the villages”
