Community Service Contest

Enhancing independence and success in agriculture and community life for individuals with disabilities and their families

Indiana AgrAbility/Breaking New Ground Outreach Program

Everyone has limitations. However, for some people, their physical impairments are major barriers to work or daily life.

To assist people with physical disabilities and limitations, Indiana AgrAbility, based at Purdue University's Breaking New Ground Resource Center, sponsors The Bridging Horizons Contest.

The Bridging Horizons challenge is for groups to complete low cost projects in their communities that enhance independence and promote success for people with disabilities. Possible projects include building a wheelchair access ramp, modifying a piece of farm equipment to accommodate a disability, or improving the accessibility of your county fairgrounds. Other project ideas are found on the reverse side of this brochure and at the website www.breakingnewground.org.

The Bridging Horizons Contest provides a community-oriented service experience that gives groups the opportunity to apply the knowledge they have gained and make a positive difference by helping community members overcome physical barriers. While special priority will be given to projects completed in rural areas or small towns, projects will be accepted from any area. Both youth and adult service organizations are eligible, such as FFA Chapters, 4-H Clubs, Jr. Leaders, Boy Scouts, Young Farmers, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, volunteer fire departments, church groups, etc.

Please show the poster located on the back of this brochure to your group. Discuss Bridging Horizons with your members and incorporate a project into your calendar. Then contact AgrAbility at 800-825-4264 or bng@ecn.purdue.edu to let us know that you are planning a project. Some FFA Project: IMPACT activities may be eligible for the Bridging Horizons Contest—check with AgrAbility for details.

The deadline for submitting a Bridging Horizons project is June 1. Please see the back panel of this brochure for specific information on submitting your contest application.
