

Consider the loading on the beam shown below where the beam is supported by a pin joint at B and a roller support at C. Using integration techniques, determine the slope of the displacement at B and the displacement of end D of the beam.

