Meet artist Katrina Mitten and learn about Miami culture while making a beaded cabochon pendant. All supplies and instruction will be provided. No previous experience necessary. Katrina Mitten (Miami Tribe of Oklahoma) was inspired at an early age to pursue an art traditional to the great lakes people, and she began learning the art of embroidery style native beadwork. Katrina has learned the art through study of family heirlooms, museum collections and practice. The imagery she creates is inspired by the world around her - texture, form and color. Many of the forms depicted in her beadwork are representative of her people. Mitten is the featured artist for the fall 2018 Eiteljorg Museum's Artist-in-Residence program.
